THE ROBBER

By Guy de Maupassant

The artist placed himself astride his chair and said:

Well, we had dined that evening with Sorieul. Poor fellow! He is now dead. There were only three of us—Sorieul, Le Poittevin and myself. Sorieul was the wildest of us all, and to say we had dined at his house signifies we were all drunk. Le Poittevin alone retained his senses—a little cloudy, it is true; still he knew what he was doing. Ah, we were young in those days!

Lying on the carpet in a little room adjoining the atelier, we discussed in the most extravagant manner all kinds of improbable things.

Sorieul, flat on his back, his feet perched on the back of a chair, talked about battles and the uniforms worn during the empire. Suddenly getting up, he went to a large wardrobe and took down a complete suit of hussar uniform, dressed himself in it, then tried to persuade Le Poittevin to costume himself as a grenadier. When he resisted, we seized him, undressed him and forced him into an immense uniform which completely swallowed him up.

I disguised myself as a cuirassier, and Sorieul made us execute some very complicated maneuvers.

Then he exclaimed, "As we are now soldiers, we must drink like soldiers!"

A punch was lighted, swallowed. Again and again the flames rose up from the bowl of rum. We sang the old songs which the troopers of the Grand Army sang in ancient times.

Suddenly Le Poittevin, who in spite of all this was still master of himself, made us a sign to be silent. After listening a moment he said in a low voice, "I am sure I hear some one walking in the atelier!"

Sorieul got up as well as he could and cried out: "A robber! What luck!" and began to troll the "Marseillaise," "To arms! To arms, ye brave!"

We dashed to a panoply of arms and equipped ourselves according to our uniforms. I had a kind of musket, with a saber, Le Poittevin a gigantic gun with a bayonet; Sorieul, not finding what he wanted, seized a horse pistol, which he stuck in his belt, and a boarding ax, which he wildly brandished. Then, cautiously opening the door of the atelier, the army entered the suspected territory.

When we were in the midst of this vast room, incumbered with easels, pictures and strange, unexpected objects of furniture, Sorieul called a halt and said: "I constitute myself general. Let us hold a council of war. You cuirassiers go and cut off the retreat of the enemy—that is, lock the door. You grenadiers will be my escort."

I executed the commanded movement, then joined the troop that formed the reconnoitering party.

I was searching behind a great screen, a lighted candle in my hand, when a furious noise burst forth. I darted out to find Le Poittevin had stuck his bayonet into the breast of a lay figure, and Sorieul was trying to cut off the head with his ax.

The mistake being recognized, the general commanded, "Be more prudent!" And again we commenced operations.

For twenty minutes at least we ransacked every corner and crevice of the atelier without success. At last Le Poittevin thought of opening a large closet. It was dark and deep. I thrust in my arm, holding the light, but quickly recoiled. A man—a living, breathing man—was there, looking at me!

I immediately shut the door and secured it by two turns of the key. Then we held a new council of war.

Opinions were very much divided. Sorieul wanted to smoke out the robber, Le Poittevin to take him by famine. I proposed to blow him up with powder.

The advice of Le Poittevin prevailed. While he mounted guard with his gigantic gun we ran off for the remainder of the punch and our pipes, when we installed ourselves before the locked door and drank to the health of the prisoner.

At the end of half an hour Sorieul said: "All the same, I would like to see him nearer. Suppose we take him by force?"

I cried, "Bravo!" Each one dashed to his arms. The closet door was opened. Sorieul, cocking his pistol, which was not loaded, was the first to rush in. We followed, howling and yelling. It was an awful scrimmage in the dark, and after five minutes of frightful struggling we brought out an old, dirty, ragged looking beggar with long white hair.

We bound him hand and foot and proceeded to question him. He would not answer a word.

Then Sorieul, full of dignified drunkenness, said, "We must try this man and pass sentence upon him." I was so drunk the proposition seemed perfectly natural to me. Le Poittevin was charged with the defense and I to sustain the accusation. He was condemned to death; only one dissenting voice, that of his defender. We were going to execute the sentence when a serious scruple came to Sorieul. He said: "This man ought not to die without the consolation of religion. Some one must go for a priest."

I objected; said it was too late. Then Sorieul proposed that I should fill that office, and I exhorted the criminal to unburden his sins into my bosom.

The poor old wretch had been rolling his frightened eyes for about five minutes, no doubt wondering what kind of madmen he had fallen into the hands of. You will laugh when I tell you Sorieul forced him down upon his knees, saying, "Confess to this gentleman, for thy last hour has come."

Horribly frightened, the old scoundrel began to cry, "Help! Help!" with such strength and vigor we were forced to gag him for fear he would arouse the neighbors. Then he rolled over the floor, turning, twisting, upsetting the easels, pictures, canvases, until Sorieul got out of patience and angrily exclaimed, "Come, let us finish him!" With that he put his pistol to the head of the miserable wretch and pulled the trigger.

Carried away by his example, I fired in my turn. My musket was an old flintlock and sent forth a tiny spark, to my great surprise.

Then Le Poittevin said in grave tones, "Have we the right to kill this man?"

Sorieul in great astonishment cried out, "Certainly, when we have condemned him to death!"

"But," continued Le Poittevin, "they don't shoot civilians. They are always hanged. We must take this one to the police station."

This argument appeared conclusive.

We picked up the old fellow—he would not walk a step—bound him securely to a plank taken from the model table and carried him, Le Poittevin at the head, I at the foot, while Sorieul, armed to the teeth, closed the line of march.

When we reached the station house, the sentinel arrested us. The chief of police was sent for. He knew us well, nearly every day witnessing some of our jokes, pranks and unheard of capers. He refused to receive our prisoner.

Sorieul insisted. Then the officer severely invited us to return home and make no more noise.

The troop again took up the line of march and returned to the atelier.

"What are we going to do with this old robber?" I asked.

Le Poittevin, touched with tender pity, declared he looked terribly exhausted. Truly the old fellow had an agonizing appearance, gagged, tied hand and foot and securely bound to his plank.

I was taken in my turn with violent pity. I took off his gag and said, "Well, my poor old man, how do you feel now?" He groaned, "In the name of God, I've had enough!"

Then Sorieul became affectionately paternal. He untied him, placed him in an armchair, fondled him, called him "thee" and "thou," and to comfort him we all three ran off to make him a fresh punch. The old scamp, tranquilly seated in his armchair, coolly regarded us.

When the punch was ready, we touched glasses with him, wishing him long life and prosperity.

Our prisoner drank as much as a regiment, and when daylight appeared he got up and said, "I am sorry to leave you, gentlemen, but I must go."

We were desolate, heartbroken, begged him to stay, but he would remain no longer. Then we followed him to the door and shook hands with him. Sorieul lighted him through the vestibule and called out: "Take care, my old friend; there's a bad step there! Don't fall!"

A hearty laugh followed this ridiculous story of the old artist, who got up, lighted his pipe and, standing in front of us, added:

"The drollest part of my story, gentlemen, is this: Every word of it is true!"

An Army Almanac.

Some years ago during one of its Egyptian campaigns the British army was suddenly startled by a total eclipse of the sun, for which the troops were not prepared. To prevent the possibility of another such surprise, which might have had grave consequences, the British war office decided to have an almanac regularly produced for the army's guidance. Such an almanac has been published regularly since that time.

WALT WHITMAN'S COMMENT.

A Story of the Poet and the Great Agnostic Ingersoll.

In the last year of his life Walt Whitman, the peculiar Camden poet and seer, was surrounded by a galaxy of admirers, some of whom encouraged his poetic genius in more substantial ways than by wordy strife and were admitted into his friendship on terms of great intimacy.

On one occasion the gathering at the hermitage included Colonel Robert G. Ingersoll and a distinguished professor of English literature at one of our institutions of higher learning. Ingersoll's magnificent flow of conversation was stimulated by the convivial offerings supplied by Whitman's table, and after a brilliant analysis of the philosophy of Shakespeare he began a long monologue upon the subject of the soul's immortality. With his usual keen sarcasm he ridiculed the commonly accepted ideas of the Christian, and in a manner surpassing even his magnetic lecture style, because the eloquence was unconscious, he set forth his own well known doctrines.

Walt Whitman, as described by the professor of literature, sat silent in his chair throughout the entrancing recital. He was at this time far along in years, and his long, uncombed white hair and beard, with the loose and picturesque clothing which he affected, gave him a strikingly venerable appearance. When the distinguished agnostic had concluded, Whitman raised his head and slowly answered:

"Yes, Bob, that all sounds very well, but when a man gets so near to the end as I am he begins to have different ideas about those things."

It was Ingersoll's turn to be thoughtful.—Philadelphia Ledger.

The Right Time to Begin.

It was during a trip to the Mediterranean when Admiral Goldsborough was in command of the fleet that the chaplain, a zealous young man, preferred request to hold services on board the flagship on Sunday mornings. The first Sunday after permission had been given the young chaplain's trepidation gave place to supreme satisfaction when he noted that with the exception of the admiral the officers and men of the fleet were assembled in full force. After waiting a few moments for the admiral, who failed to appear, the chaplain opened the services in regulation manner: "The Lord is in his holy temple. Let all the earth keep silence before him."

As the voice rang out in the opening words the admiral walked on deck, and, though his face betokened a storm, he took his seat in silence and so remained until the congregation had been dismissed. Then he rose and, striding over to the chaplain, said, "Young man, I want you to understand in future that the Lord is not in this holy temple until I, Admiral Goldsborough, am on deck."

OUR SPECIAL EDITION.

OUR special edition is out to-day and we trust that it will come up to the expectations of the public and prove a great boon to Sonoma Valley.

To those enterprising and progressive citizens who patronized the enterprise and assisted it otherwise we extend our hearty thanks.

The edition is an eight-page paper with splendid pictures taken in and around the valley and was written and edited by Miss Celeste Granice. The contributions are entirely original as are all the photographs.

The paper is the first souvenir ever issued of the valley and is on sale at this office. Price, 10c per copy or three copies for 25c. Large orders filled at a liberal reduction on the above prices. Order what you want at once.

CITY TRUSTEE BREITENBACH, who is opposing our local electric light company and who has refrained from patronizing it ever since the enterprise started up four years ago, has publicly declared under his own signature that the California Central Gas and Electric Power Company would enter Sonoma. We are in a position to state that his assertion is misleading. Manager Osborne of the big powers company personally stated to the editor of this paper last Sunday morning that the company could not even consider the proposition of entering the town for a year at least, and then it would not be certain whether it would pay them to come here at all. We would remind Trustee Breitenbach of that aphorism of Honest Old Abe Lincoln: "You can fool some of the people all the time, you can fool all the people some time, but you can't fool all the people all the time."

Druid Delegates.

A. Baccala, Henry Castagnasso and P. Boccoli, delegates from Sonoma Grove, No. 75, U. A. O. D., attended the three days' session of the Grand Grove in Napa this week. N. Tomasi, lessee of the Wickersham ranch, was also in attendance as a delegate from Bolinas Grove. The brothers report having had a fine time.

Woman Fined $5.

A summer lady, residing in one of the Monahan cottages on First-street West, was arrested Wednesday evening by Constable Ohm on a charge of disturbing the peace. The complaint was sworn to by a neighbor and placed in the officer's hands, who lugged his charge, who by the way tips the scales at 330 pounds, before Judge Small, who imposed a fine of $5. The lady was big but the fine was small and so was the Judge. The madam, whose name we do not think it would be fair to mention when we consider the circumstances, is highly indigant at her treatment in this jay town and is packing her duds preparatory to returning to the metropolis.

Difficult Digestion

That is dyspepsia.

It makes life miserable.

Its sufferers eat not because they want to, —but simply because they must.

They know they are irritable and fretful; but they cannot be otherwise.

They complain of a bad taste in the mouth, a tenderness at the pit of the stomach, an uneasy feeling of puffy fulness, headache, heartburn and what not.

The effectual remedy, proved by permanent cures of thousands of severe cases, is Modern Preachers.

ARE THEY TO BE TRUSTED AND BELIEVED?

The only value of the question in the headline is to bring home the fact that of all classes of testimony, that offered by the clergy would be most promptly accepted without doubt or cavil. The clergy stand for truth and right, and thousands follow them living up to the same precepts of rectitude. These followers are no whit less truthful than their leaders. Yet because the preacher is a leader it is natural to give weight to his statements. His very position and responsibility to his people and the world at large not only forbid the thought of untruth in him, but lend emphasis to any voluntary declaration of fact which he may make.

If a pastor says to one of his congregation who is coughing, "I cured a very bad cough once by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery," he could offer no stronger endorsement as to the value of that well-known medicine as a cure for coughs; and if such a pastor makes for the time the world his parish, and puts out the same testimony he is only enlarging the scope of his benefaction. For if the world at large knew and was persuaded of the wonderful curative powers of "Golden Medical Discovery" in cases of diseases of the respiratory organs, it would mean a great increase in the general health and comfort, not to say a probable saving of a great many lives.

"AS TRUE AS GOSPEL."

It is "as true as gospel" that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures coughs, bronchitis, weak and bleeding lungs and such diseases of the respiratory organs as through neglect or unskillful treatment may find a fatal termination in consumption. It is also true that the limit to a possibility of a cure cannot be set. When people who have had fourscore hemorrhages of the lungs are cured by the use of the "Discovery," there is certainly hope for one who may have had ninety hemorrhages. When some one is taken from the condemned cell into which the local practitioner has shut him, and from a weak, emaciated wreck restored to rugged health by the use of the "Discovery," it is impossible to shut the door of hope on any one however weak he may be. It is the record of such cures which has given Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery a pre-eminence among all preparations for the cure of diseases of the organs of respiration.

"I desire to send you this brief, unsolicited testimonial," writes Rev. Joseph H. Fesperman, of Barium Springs, Iredell Co., N. C. "In 1898, one of my daughters was suffering on account of a severe cough, hectic fever, wasting of flesh and other symptoms of diseased lungs. I promptly gave her Dr. R. V. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery with gratifying success, and she now enjoys excellent health. This experience caused me to recommend Dr. Pierce's medicines to my neighbors, who, without exception, used them with favorable results. This being true, I hereby heartily endorse your medicines."

It can be truly said of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery that it always helps and almost always cures. Ninety-eight per cent. of all who use "Golden Medical Discovery" are perfectly and permanently cured. The remaining two per cent. though not cured acknowledge appreciable benefit. They cough less, eat better, sleep better and feel better for the use of the "Discovery."

THE IMPORTANT POINT.

While extreme cases of disease are cured by the use of "Golden Medical Discovery," the important point is not to neglect the slight cough. From such neglect fatal results have come to many thousands. It is useless to try the mere "cough medicine," or palliative, which soothes but does not cure. The one thing desirable is to be cured quickly and permanently, and it is in such cures that the "Discovery" proves its value.

"I took a severe cold which settled in the bronchial tubes," writes Rev. Frank Hay, of Nortonville, Jefferson Co., Kansas. "After trying medicines labeled 'Sure cure,' almost without number, I was led to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I took two bottles and was cured, and have stayed cured. When I think of the great pain I had to endure, and the terrible cough I had, it seems almost a miracle that I was so soon relieved. That God may spare you many years and abundantly bless you is the prayer of your grateful friend."

Men or women suffering from disease in chronic form are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter, free. All correspondence is held in strict privacy and sacred confidence. Address Dr. R. V Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

This offer of free consultation by letter places at the disposal of the sick the skill and experience of nearly a score of the best physicians who are associated with Dr. Pierce, chief consulting physician, to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y.

Accept no substitutes for "Golden Medical Discovery." No other medicine is "just as good" for diseases of the organs of respiration.

"THE BIBLE OF THE BODY,"

is a title that has been given to Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. It is a perfect guide to the health of the body, as the Bible is to the health of the soul. This great work, containing more than a thousand large pages and over seven hundred illustrations, is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. CITY OFFICIAL PAPER.

A ROMANTIC MARRIAGE.

Dr. Thomson Weds Pretty Anita Emparan.

A romance that startled all Sonoma came to light Tuesday last when the marriage of pretty little Miss Anita Emparan and Dr. A. M. Thomson was announced.

Cupid was sly, for while love was a-kindling no one even suspected that the doctor was wooing the charming, dark-eyed granddaughter of the late General Vallejo.

The secret of their engagement was well kept until last Tuesday when they drove to Santa Rosa and were quietly wed. In the old days we would have called it an elopement but in the twentieth century is is just a quiet wedding, for Cupid often fools people that way.

The doctor and his bride-to-be drove a spanking team up to the county seat and there applied for a marriage license. Then the ceremony was gone through and Judge Brown pronounced them man and wife. The bride was attired in the white organdy dress she wore at her graduation from the High School just a week previous, and with her black hair down her back looked just as girlish as the night she received her diploma.

After the ceremony the young couple drove home to herald the surprise to their friends and to tell the bride's mother, Mrs. Emparan, who, ever kind and forgiving, gave them her blessing, but insisted that the Catholic Church rites be performed in addition to the civil service.

This will be done to-morrow at noon. Rev. Father Leahy, pastor of St. Francis' Church, will perform the ceremony at the old Vallejo home.

To the bride and groom we extend congratulations.

THE WOMAN'S CLUB.

Their Dancing Party Last Night a Great Success.

The Woman's Club gave a delightful dancing party last night in Union Hall which was largely attended. The hall had been prettily decorated with flowers and greens and it was a pleasing sight to the merry dancers and spectators who came to while away a few hours for the benefit of the club. When all were assembled dancing was inaugurated, the excellent music being furnished by Messrs. Liebert of San Francisco.

There were many summer folks out to join with our own people in the jollity. The girls in their light, airy summer dresses all looked very charming and enjoyed "admiration utter" and plenty of dances the entire evening.

Waltzes and two-steps were the principal dances on the program but occassionally there was a good old "Lancers," and one of these was the supper dance.

Mine host Wilde served a tempting menu. After supper and impromptu promenades, music again brought the dancers on the floor and it was two o'clock before the program was gone through and au revoirs said.

Every one present pronounced the party to be the best in a long time.

Much credit is due to Misses Rufus and Bates and Mrs. Pauline McMullen for their untiring efforts to make the affair the success it was.

Something for Nothing.

The people of Sonoma are to be treated to a solid week of fun free. Commencing at Union Hall on Tuesday evening, June 24th, White and Watkins, the great electric entertainers, will make their bow for the first time to a Sonoma audience. Their specialties are music, comedy and absurdities. The fame of these artists and the fact that no admission charge will be asked will no doubt fill Union Hall every night they are here.

Boring operations will be commenced immediately.

The leases were recorded in Santa Rosa last Saturday and the twelve hundred acres embraces the following places: Peter C. Clark, 300 acres, the sale price at the end of the ten years stipulated in the agreement to be $50 per acre. G. W. Rodehover, 306 acres, the sale price to be $20,000. A. W. Champlin leases 274 acres, the option being $25,000. Mary, Maggie and Annie Biggins lease 310 acres, the purchase price being $30,000.

GALLANT RESCUE.

Narrow Escape From Death in a Swimming Tank.

F. La Chapelle, a young business man in the Donohoe building, San Francisco, who is summering in this valley, is the hero of quite an exciting episode which took place recently at the Agua Caliente Springs bathing resort. While loitering around the premises his attention was attracted by the screams of women and children and turning around to discover the cause he observed a young man in the swimming tank throw up his hands and with a despairing cry sink to the bottom. With rare presence of mind he did not join in the cry for help but hastily throwing off his coat he leaped over the guard rail and plunged to the bottom of the tank, which at that point was seven feet deep. Seizing the drowning lad around the waist he brought him to the surface and bore him to the edge of the tank where willing hands assisted him in landing the all but drowned boy on terra firma. The youngster had gone down for the third time and would surely have drowned but for Mr. La Chapelle's heroic rescue.

Those who witnessed the daring act were profuse in their expressions of admiration for the coolness and modesty of Mr. La Chapelle, who did not appear to realize that he had done anything out of the ordinary. Those who witnessed the rescue, however, say it was the act of an impulsive though coolheaded, determined and brave man.

WOULD WASTE THE PUBLIC FUNDS.

Latest Scheme of Trustees Who are Out for "Economy."

At a special meeting of the Board of City Trustees, held last Saturday evening, it became apparent why Trustees Breitenbach and Poppe are opposed to a Board of Health for Sonoma. It appears that these "economists," who have shut down the street lights and would also extinguish the Board of Health, too, if they dare, are in favor of cementing the bed of the open ditch on First-street West at a cost of $600 or $700.

The idea is to cement the bed of this ditch, which is of natural hard pan or bedrock, from Poppe's winery to a point below the Monahan place, at the above cost and flush it with water which would have to be purchased by the city from private parties.

The carrying out of such a project would entail a wanton and silly expenditure of the city's funds and an unjust tax on its people. The ditch in question is not an open sewer and was never intended as such and no one has a right to befoul it with sewage or other offensive matter. This ditch was constructed many years ago for the purpose of carrying off the surplus water from the small creek which at one time flowed through Aguillon's orchard and vineyards.

Of late years this otherwise harmless ditch has been befouled by excresences from Trustee Poppe's winery and the two Chinese wash houses in the block below it.

These parties had no right to menace the health of the town by arbitrarily using this ditch to dump their filth under the noses of their neighbors, and the Board of Health not very long ago abolished the nuisance.

Trustees Breitenbach and Poppe would now undo all that the Board of Health has recently done to place this ditch in a sanitary condition.

The City Trustees have no right, unless it be that of might of temporary power, to compel the taxpayers to expend $700 or any other sum to enable Trustee Poppe and his two Chinese neighbors to again dump their filth into this ditch and that, too, as a mence to the health of the people of the municipality.

These three parties should be compelled to take care of their own filth, like the other residents of the town. If they cannot do this let an ordinance be passed declaring the winery and washouses in question public nuisances, as was the case of the slaughter houses which were forced out of town years ago. The public health of Sonoma should be paramount to everything else.

Suppose this infamous scheme to abolish the Board of Health and spend $700 to enable Messrs. Poppe, Ng Loy and Charley Hoy to use this ditch for sewage purposes should be carried out, there would be the additional expense for water for flushing their filth under the very noses of those residents west of Broadway and south of Napa street. In other words the taxpayers would expend between $600 and $700 to handle the filth of three people, two of them aliens, and then dump it under the nostrils of the other citizens of the town.

Garden Party at Caliente.

The ladies of St. Francis' Church have perfected arrangements for a grand garden party at Caliente Springs on Saturday evening, June 28th. A program of unusual excellence has been prepared and contains some novel features. W. W. Brackett and G. C. Lemar, two very clever members of the Golden City Minstrels of San Francisco, have been secured. They will render some choice humorous selections, sing comic songs and afford much amusement. At the conclusion of the program refreshments will be served, and as the hotel grounds are provided with an open-air dancing platform good music has been secured for those who wish to enjoy a social hop. Admission to the grounds will be 25 cents for adults; children under twelve years, 10 cents. Those who attend the garden party will be assured a pleasant evening and an enjoyable time.

FREIGHT TRAIN SMASH-UP.

Brakeman Geo. Laux Has a Narrow Escape.

A very unusual thing happened on the Sonoma Valley Branch of the California Northwestern at 9 o'clock last Monday night—a freight train smash-up. It happened this way: A freight train, composed of twenty-five cars, was on its way to Tiburon and when nearly opposite the section house at Sears' Point a spreading rail threw fifteen of the freight cars from the track after the engine, tender and ten cars had passed safely over the defective rail.

Brakeman Geo. Laux of this place was on top of one of the rear cars and when those ahead of him commenced to topple over, one after the other, he jumped for his life.

In his leap in the darkness his right knee was wrenched and badly injured. He fell clear of the derailed cars, however, and picking himself up joined the other train men in clearing away the wreck, but was finally compelled to give up, as his injured knee became very painful.

Young Laux arrived in town Wednesday and is stopping at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Laux. No bones were broken and he will be "on deck" again in a week or two.

A wrecking crew from Tiburon removed the derailed cars on Tuesday.

Accident.

Mr. and Mrs. Van Every, accompanied by Mrs. Geo. Gies and Miss Hazel Gies, while driving to the Sonoma creek drawbridge, one day this week, had a lucky escape from serious injury. When nearly opposite the residence of Capt. Hauto their rig, a light two seated affair, collided with a heavy farm wagon driven by H. Pooler. The force of the impact threw Mr. Van Every and Miss Hazel, who occupied the front seat, headformost over the dashboard. Both struck the ground heavily, but fortunately escaped serious injury. Mr. Van Every received a good shaking up and Miss Gies was slightly cut on one of her limbs. The horse, finding himself without a driver, cantered down the road at a lively clip, Mrs. Van Every and Mrs. Gies, who occupied the rear seat, being unable to reach the lines and stop him. A daughter of Capt. Hauto, who witnessed the accident, went to the rescue of the affrighted ladies and seizing the animal by the bit brought him to a standstill.

The damage was confined to a broken dashboard.

RESULT OF A HUNTING ACCIDENT.

A. Camponelli Submits to Another Operation.

A. Camponelli, formerly of this place but who left here for Jackson, Amador county, three years ago, where he is the owner of a general merchandise store, is at the present time lying dangerously ill in the French Hospital, San Francisco.

A number of years ago, while hunting in the hills north of town, he was accidentally shot in the right foot by a companion. Gangrene set in and the foot was amputated. But the wound would not heal and since then the limb has been twice operated upon.

On Saturday last Mr. Camponelli submitted to another operation, the surgeons of the hospital removing the limb just below the knee, since which time the patient has been a very sick man.

L. Modini of this place visited Mr. Camponelli at the hospital Monday and he doubts very much if he will be able to survive this last operation.

THE SECONDHAND STORE.

An Incident of Everyday Life in the Metropolis.

Into the secondhand shops of the metropolis is continually pouring a stream of finely made and little worn garments of good material that tell a sad story of decline from better days by those who part with the clothing.

Stylish dresses of finest cloth, of silk and satin trimmed with lace, no longer proper after financial reverses, go into these shops and bring to the former wearers a few dollars that under changed conditions seem so much more than did the large sums paid for them.

And into these shops go purchasers who desire goods better than those they can afford to buy in the firsthand stores, and so from those who are going down to those who are struggling up go the finery and substantial garments that are fitted to serve two masters.

Into one of these shops the other night there came a timid looking woman, and when I saw her I stepped into a corner darkened by a profusion of hanging garments, for I thought that she had entered because she believed the woman in attendance to be there alone.

She asked to see some street dresses, and a number were shown her. The bargaining was protracted. The saleswoman insisted that her prices were low and that she was really asking no profits on her goods, yet the other hesitated, while dress after dress was laid before her.

Finally a gray street dress was spread before the customer.

"This is a great bargain," said the shopkeeper. "You can have it for $9."

The woman raised it from the counter and, instantly dropping it, buried her face in her hands and burst into tears.

"What is the matter?" asked the other.

"That was my dress," she answered, sobbing. "Just a year ago, when misfortune overtook me, I sold it to an old clothes man for $2. I won't buy a dress tonight."

With an effort she restrained her tears, wiped her reddened eyes and walked from the shop.—New York Herald.

Had the Bullet.

"After the battle of Gettysburg," said a veteran surgeon, "a corps under the command of a young physician, who had recently been appointed, was ordered to collect the wounded. Among the disabled was a man who had been shot through the leg. After cutting for a half hour he was interrupted by the young soldier with:

"'Say, how much longer are you going to cut?'

"'Until I get the bullet,' replied the doctor.

"'Why, you fool, if that's what you want, I've got it in my pocket.'

"Sure enough, the bullet had lodged in the skin of the man's leg after passing through, and he had kept it as a souvenir."

Insurance Statistics.

Few people have any idea of the enormity of the insurance business of the United States. It not only exceeds that of any other country, but is twice as great as that of all the rest of the world combined. At the present time there is in the United States about $12,000,000,000 of life insurance in force, including assessment business. This means over $160 for every man, woman and child in the country, or $800 for every family. The annual risks written by the fire insurance companies are estimated at $20,000,000,000, which is $250 per capita, or $1,250 per family. Thus it will be seen that every family in the country, on an average, has insurance assets of over $2,000.

Effect of Domestication.

Domestication modifies and often changes the instinct of wild animals to persecute or at least neglect the sick or injured, perhaps because the lessened strain of the struggle for existence leaves room for sentiment to grow. Both dogs and cats often aid their kind when sick, and strange alliances spring up between pets of different species. Perhaps the best known instance is that of the raven which Dickens saw at Hungerford, which used to carry bones to a broken legged retriever. And the quickness with which dogs learn that their master is ill and show sympathy is well established. — London Spectator.

Rome.

Even the guidebooks warn strangers to avoid exposure to the sun and night air in Rome and discuss Roman fever as a unique disease, but the doctors say that it is nothing more than typho malarial fever and was always due to bad water, bad plumbing or insufficient drainage. In 1870 the death rate of Rome exceeded that of Bombay. Today it is the smallest in Europe with the exception of Stockholm, Christiania, Copenhagen and some of the northern cities.

George Schaub, a well known German citizen of New Lebanon, Ohio, is a constant reader of the Dayton Volkszeitung. He knows that this paper aims to advertise only the best in its columns, and when he saw Chamberlain's Pain Balm advertised therein for lame back, he did not hesitate in buying a bottle of it for his wife, who for eight weeks had suffered with the most terrible pains in her back and could get no relief. He says: "After using the Pain Balm for a few days my wife said to me, 'I feel as though born anew,' and before using the entire contents of the bottle the unbearable pains had entirely vanished and she could again take up her household duties." He is very thankful and hopes that all suffering likewise will hear of her wonderful recovery. This valuable liniment is for sale by F. Duhring.

Women in Veils.

The custom of wearing face veils among the women of the orient is a very ancient one, and undoubtedly the wedding and widow's veils of our day are remnants of that old world fashion. The oriental woman prizes her veil beyond any other article of her wardrobe. Rather than have a strange man look upon her uncovered face she will snatch a curtain, counterpane or her petticoats in her haste to conceal her features, utterly regardless of other parts of her anatomy which may be exposed by the action. This need not seem so very absurd when we remember that it is a part of most oriental religions to keep the women in exclusion and the Mohammed of blessed memory made the command a binding one.

Two to One.

"I want you to make for me a thousand strong pocketknives," said the jobber.

"Here's a good knife I keep in stock," replied the manufacturer. "I can give you a thousand at once. It has two good blades and a corkscrew."

"Never do. This order is for a prohibition state."

"Well, do you mean to say the corkscrew is of no"—

"I mean to say that the knife should have two corkscrews and one blade."—Beverages.

A Question of Climate.

An old colored preacher was telling his congregation that after death they would probably go to the moon. After meeting one of the best informed of the brethren said to him:

"Br'er Jinkins, don't you know dat de moon is col' ez ice en ain't got no fire 'tall in it?"

"Br'er Thomas," replied the parson, "ef it's fire you a-wantin' des keep on in de way you gwine, en you can't miss it."—Atlanta Constitution.

ARE YOU DEAF?

ANY HEAD NOISES?

ALL CASES OF

DEAFNESS OR HARD HEARING ARE NOW CURABLE

by our new invention. Only those born deaf are incurable.

HEAD NOISES CEASE IMMEDIATELY.

F. A. WERMAN, OF BALTIMORE, SAYS:

BALTIMORE, Md., March 30, 1901.

Gentlemen:—Being entirely cured of deafness, thanks to your treatment, I will now give you a full history of my case, to be used at your discretion.

About five years ago my right ear began to sing, and this kept on getting worse, until I lost my hearing in this ear entirely.

I underwent a treatment for catarrh, for three months, without any success, consulted a number of physicians, among others, the most eminent ear specialist of this city, who told me that only an operation could help me, and even that only temporarily, that the head noises would then cease, but the hearing in the affected ear would be lost forever.

I then saw your advertisement accidentally in a New York paper, and ordered your treatment. After I had used it only a few days according to your directions, the noises ceased, and to-day, after five weeks, my hearing in the diseased ear has been entirely restored. I thank you heartily and beg to remain Very truly yours,

F. A. WERMAN, 730 S. Broadway, Baltimore, Md.

Our treatment does not interfere with your usual occupation.
